- 1.1. All deliveries of goods (e.g. products, equipments, complete systems; hereinafter "deliveries") and services (e.g. installation, assembly, calibration, repair; hereinafter "services") by RSÖ shall be made on the basis of these GTC, which shall remain effective even if RSÖ, in the course of ongoing transactions, does not expressly refer to these GTC in future contractual arrangements.
- 1.2. Any deviated or amended terms and conditions of corporations, body corporates organised under public law or special fund under public law (hereinafter "customer"), shall only be effective if RSÖ confirms such deviation or amendment for each contractual arrangement concerned in writing.
- 1.3. These GTC shall be integral part of the contract, which shall be deemed to be concluded upon the acceptance of order by RSÖ following the order of the customer. In case of any conflict between the terms of the acceptance order and these GTC, the terms of the acceptance order shall prevail. The customer's placement of an order with RSÖ confirms his/her acceptance of these GTC. Any deviation from these GTC shall only have legal validity if confirmed by RSÖ in writing. These GTC shall be deemed acknowledged upon acceptance of the goods and/or of the services at the latest.

2. Scope of Deliveries and Services

- 2.1. The scope of deliveries or services shall be determined according to statements mutually agreed upon in writing. Should a contract have been concluded without the inclusion of such mutual statements, either RSÖ's written confirmation of order or, in absence thereof, the customer's written order shall be applicable and binding.
- 2.2. All deliveries and services shall be subject to the regulations of the German Association of Electrical Engineers ("Verband Deutscher Elektrotechniker" - VDE) to the extent that they are applicable to ensure the safety and security of deliveries and services as far as these terms and conditions do not contain any divergent provisions. Deviations shall be permissible as long as the same level of safety is achieved by other means.
- 2.3. Documentary material, e.g. illustrations, drawings, weight and performance specifications in brochures, estimation of costs and data sheets, etc. do not include representations of technical characteristics, but merely descriptions of performance. RSÖ reserves the right to deviate from an order, even following confirmation thereof, to the extent that such deviations are based on and justified by technical advancement.
- 2.4. RSÖ unrestrictedly reserves all copyright, ownership and usage rights pertaining to its cost estimates, drawings, technical information, data, specifications and other documentary material. Without RSÖ's prior express written acceptance, the customer shall not be entitled to reproduce, copy, make available or otherwise pass on to third parties any such documentary material or technical information, or to use said material in any other manner whatsoever which could be in conflict with RSÖ's interests. Any and all drawings or other documentary material pertaining to offers made by RSÖ must be returned without delay if the order is not actually placed with RSÖ. Sentences 1 and 2 shall analogously apply to the customer's documentary material which, however, may be made available to such third parties whom RSÖ has permissibly subcontracted deliveries and services.

Prices, including commercial packing, are understood in Euro (€), plus the current legal VAT, and taxes, customs duties or charges or possible consular fees respectively authentication fees which may be imposed by a legislation other than the applicable law pursuant to article 13. The customer shall bear such taxes, custom duties and charges being imposed to RSÖ. - 3.2. Prices reflect RSÖ's cost situation at the time of the conclusion of the contract. Should any changes in costs occur up until the day of delivery/performance of service, RSÖ reserves the right to adjust prices, provided that delivery/service is rendered later than 4 months following the conclusion of the contract concerned. The adjustment shall not be applicable if RSÖ culpably causes a default in delivery.

4. Reservation of title

- 4.1. All articles delivered shall remain the property of RSÖ (retained goods) until all claims and accounts (including any outstanding balance claim out of open account) payable to RSÖ resulting from the business relationship have been settled by the customer, insofar this is permissible under the law of the country in whose territory the retained goods are located as agreed upon. If such law does not permit reservation of title to the retained goods, but permits reservation of similar rights, RSÖ shall be entitled to assert such rights. Ownership shall also be retained for such receivables which have been included in current accounts and for which the balance has been drawn and acknowledged. The customer shall support any measures in order to safeguard the ownership or the security interests related to the retained goods.

- 4.3. The customer assigns even now its claims out of the resell of the retained goods joint with all ancillary rights as well as such claims of the customer related to the retained goods, arising out of any other legal cause of action against its recipients or third parties (particularly claims in tort and claims of insurance benefits), including any outstanding balance claim out of open account for the amount due to RSÖ. RSÖ accepts herewith this assignment.
- 4.4. Should RSÖ's proprietary rights be dissolved through combination with another item, RSÖ shall acquire a joint ownership to such new item at the rate of the value of the combined retained good (invoice final amount including the value added tax) to the other combined items at the time of combination. In the event the retained good will be combined in such a way that the item of the customer has to be considered as the main item, both customer and RSÖ agree even now that customer shall transfer a pro rata joint ownership to RSÖ related to such item. RSÖ accepts herewith this transfer. Customer shall bear any costs which may arise out of enforcement claims which RSÖ asserts as joint owner.
- 4.5. To the extent that the value of all collateral rights to which RSÖ is entitled in the sense of Article 4. exceeds the amount of all secured claims by more than 20%, RSÖ shall, at the customer's request, release a corresponding part of the collateral rights. However, RSÖ shall be entitled to choose the retained good to be released.
- 4.6. The customer shall undertake to inform RSÖ without delay of any seizure, confiscation or other dispositions or access by third parties to goods which are the property of RSÖ. The customer shall also be obliged to indicate to third parties wishing to obtain access to the goods that said goods are the property of RSÖ. To the extent the third party will not be able to reimburse the related judicial and extrajudicial costs to RSÖ, the customer shall be liable to pay such costs. In the case of any non-compliance with this obligation, the customer shall be liable to RSÖ for any and all damage resulting there from. The costs for any intervention necessary shall be borne by the customer.

- 4.8. The customer shall be entitled to collect the assigned claims as long as he complies with its payment obligations in favour of RSÖ. In the event the customer should be in default of payment, RSÖ shall be entitled to withdraw such right of collection. However, the customer shall not be entitled to assign such claims in order to collect them by way of factoring, unless the customer commits the factor irrevocably to cause the equivalent directly to RSÖ as long as RSÖ has claims against the purchaser.
- 4.9. To the extent the deliveries and/or services consist of software, the customer shall not obtain ownership, but solely the rights specified in article 9.

5. Terms and Conditions of Payment

- 5.1. All payments shall be effected without deduction and free of charge to RSÖ within 30 calendar days following the invoicing date.

6. Due Dates for Deliveries and Services

- 6.1. Compliance by RSÖ with due dates for deliveries and/or services shall be subject to the timely and proper fulfilment of all obligations by the customer, particularly timely receipt of all documentary material, requisite approvals and releases to be supplied by the customer, as well as the timely acknowledgement and approval of plans and schedules, and the compliance with the terms and conditions of payment agreed upon, and any further obligations, which are necessary for the proper and timely delivery and/or services by RSÖ. Should these requirements not be fulfilled within sufficient time, due dates are reasonably extended accordingly, plus a reasonable period for restart. In case a down payment has to be effected pursuant to article 5.2. or pursuant to an agreement between the parties, the preceding sentence shall be applicable accordingly.
- 6.2. Due dates shall be deemed to have been met if RSÖ has fulfilled its obligations pursuant to the applicable INCOTERMS set forth in article 3.1. Should deliveries and/or services be delayed for reasons attributable to the customer, due dates shall be deemed to have been met upon reporting readiness for delivery within the period agreed upon.
- 6.3. In the event that any non-compliance with due dates for deliveries and/or services is provably attributable to force majeure, such as operational breakdowns, military mobilization, war, civil insurrection, strikes, lockouts, traffic disturbances or the occurrence of other such unforeseeable impediments, any due dates affected thereby are reasonably extended, plus a reasonable period for restart. Events of force majeure in particular shall include all official actions and omissions (like for example the non-issuance, partial issuance or delayed issuance as well as the entire or partial suspension or abrogation of necessary governmental authorisations or permissions, the stop through customs authorities, the imposition of an embargo or sanctions of any kind whatsoever through an authority or an inter-, multi-, or supranational organization), restrictions on transport or energy consumption, but furthermore also general lack of raw materials and supply goods, as well as any other reasons not attributable to RSÖ, such as the non-delivery or delayed delivery from suppliers. Should such circumstances make delivery or service impossible, RSÖ shall be released from its delivery obligation. RSÖ shall inform the customer as soon as possible, if delivery due dates must be exceeded or if delivery is impossible. If an event of force majeure lasts more than six (6) months, each party shall be entitled to rescind from the contract.
- 6.4. In case of non-compliance with due dates for reasons exclusively attributable to RSÖ, the customer shall be entitled (to the extent that he can plausibly demonstrate to have incurred damage due to delay) to demand from the third full week of delay a compensation for delayed delivery in amount zero point five per cent (0,5%) for every next full week of delay up to a maximum totalling five per cent (5%) of the value of the delayed portion of deliveries and/or services.
- 6.5. The customer may also be entitled to demand payment of compensation for delayed delivery, if the circumstances defined in article 6.3. occur only after culpable delay on the due date originally agreed upon.
- 6.6. Compensation claims of the customer due to a default in delivery and any further claims for damages exceeding overall the limit of 5 per cent (5%) as defined in article 6.4. shall be precluded in all cases of delayed delivery (even after expiry of any extension period granted to RSÖ).
- 6.7. Customer shall only be entitled to withdraw from the contract pursuant to the legal provisions if the compensation referred to in article 6.4 has reached the limit of 5 per cent (5%).
- 6.8. Upon RSÖ's request the customer shall declare within a reasonable time period whether (i) he will withdraw from the contract due to delayed deliveries and/or services and/or (ii) he will claim damages in lieu of the performance or (iii) he will claim damages in addition to the performance or (iv) he will insist upon the performance of the deliveries and/or services. Any claim due to delay shall expire within a time period of six (6) month following the day of accrual and knowledge or grossly negligent lack of knowledge on the part of customer.
- 6.9. Should dispatch or delivery be delayed at the customer's request (or any other reasons attributable to the customer), a warehouse storage fee amounting to zero point five per cent (0,5%) of the invoice sum can be charged for each commenced month, beginning from the first day after notification of dispatch readiness. The warehouse storage fee shall be limited at the maximum to five per cent (5%) of the invoice sum. The parties shall be entitled to prove higher or lower storage costs.

7. Delivery/Acceptance

- 7.1. The customer shall take over contractual deliveries and/or services according to the contract or accept them, if an acceptance has been agreed, even if they show minor defects.
- 7.2. The customer shall be obligated to inspect the deliveries for transport damage immediately upon receipt. Any claims for transport damage shall be precluded, unless such damage is reported without delay to the transport company for verification, in proof whereof the inspection form provided for such cases must be demanded. Should this not be possible, the customer shall notify the transport company and RSÖ without delay, and shall allow the transport company to view and to assess the extent of damage, for which a written report is to be recorded by both parties together. Should RSÖ not have participated in such an assessment, it must receive a copy of the written report.
- 7.3. RSÖ shall be generally exempted from the obligation to accept returned goods.
- 7.4. Partial deliveries as well as early deliveries shall be permitted, if they are reasonable to the customer.
- 7.5. If acceptance had been agreed and RSÖ demands acceptance of the contractual deliveries and/or services after completion, the customer shall make such acceptance immediately, but at the latest within two weeks. If the customer fail to make acceptance in due time or refuses acceptance without justification, the acceptance shall be deemed made. Acceptance shall likewise be deemed made if the deliveries – as applicable after completion of an agreed trial period – have been put to use.

8. Transfer of Risk

- 8.1. The risk shall pass to the customer:
 - 8.1.1. in case of (partial) deliveries without services according to the Incoterms set forth in article 3.1.;

- 8.1.2. in case of (partial) deliveries combined with services at the date the customer puts the deliveries into operation; if a test run has been agreed, after the faultless test run. It is a precondition that the test run or the putting into operation follows on the operational installation or the assembly without delay. Otherwise the risk shall pass to the customer at the time of the operational installation or the assembly.
- 8.1.3. for the period of time in which the dispatch, the delivery, the beginning or the performance of the agreed services is delayed at the customer's request or for reasons attributable to him (default of acceptance). However, RSÖ is prepared to cause the protection measures demanded by the customer to be taken out at the latter's request and expense.

9. Software

- 9.1 RSÖ grants the customer the non-exclusive right, to make use of the contractual computer programs and the corresponding documentation (both computer programs and corresponding documentation hereinafter "software") solely for the operation of the hardware intended or supplied therefore. The right of such use shall be limited to the agreed period, in absence of such an agreement the right of use shall be for an unlimited period. In particular, the right to use of the software shall not include the right to translate, to lease, to lend, to sublicense nor the right to distribute, to communicate to the public or to provide online such software to third parties outside the customer's company. Furthermore, the right of such use shall not include the right to reproduce unless such reproduction is necessary (i) to operate the hardware intended or supplied therefor or (ii) to make a backup copy. - 9.2 RSÖ grants to the customer the right – which may be revoked in case of good cause - to transfer the right of use of the software to third parties. The transfer of such right to third parties shall only be permitted to the extent that the transfer is made only together with the hardware which the customer has purchased from RSÖ together with the software or for which the software of RSÖ is intended. In that case the customer shall impose the preceding obligations and limitations on the third party.
- 9.3. The software will be provided only in a machine-readable form (object code) and without any source code and source code documentation.
- 9.4. Any other rights to the software shall remain with RSÖ and/or the respective rightholder.
- 9.5. Insofar that software will be provided to the customer for which RSÖ only has a derived right of use and which is not open source software (third-party-software), the provisions agreed upon between RSÖ and its licensor concerning the use of software shall be applicable also for the relation between RSÖ and the customer and shall take precedence over the provisions of this article 9. Insofar that open source software is provided to the customer, the provisions concerning the use of software of such open source software shall apply prior-ranking to the provisions of this article 9. At least upon customers demand, RSÖ will provide to the customer the source code to the extent the provisions of use for the open source software require the hand over of the source code. RSÖ will make a reference at a suitable place to the existence and the terms of use of third-party-software, so provided, including open source software, and will make the terms of use available.

10. Liability for Defects

- 10.1. - 10.10. Necessary expenses for the purpose of supplementary performance, such as travel and transport expenses, material and labour costs, shall be borne by RSÖ to the extent that the delivered good has not been taken, contrary to its intended use, to a place different than the place of delivery. In the event the good has been taken according to its intended use to a place different than the place of delivery, RSÖ shall bear only those expenses which would have been occurred if the customer had not transferred the good. Any exceeding expenses for supplementary performance, caused by such transfer shall be borne by the customer.
- 10.11. To the extent that RSÖ has doubts concerning the quality and adequacy of articles made available by the customer for the implementation of a performance or the execution of a service, RSÖ reserves the right to refuse implementation of such performance, the execution of such service or to refuse the assumption of any liability, unless the customer removes all grounds for doubt on the part of RSÖ.
- 10.12. Software errors shall be deemed to be a material defect only if the customer can prove that there are reproducible deviations from the specifications. Whereas software errors shall not be deemed to be a material defect if the software error does not appear in the latest software version which has been supplied to the customer and if its application is reasonable to the customer. Furthermore, the liability for defects shall be precluded if a material defect results from (i) incompatibility of the software with data processing environment used by the customer (ii) use of the software together with software delivered from third parties, unless such use has been allowed expressly in the documentation of RSÖ or has been permitted otherwise in writing by RSÖ (iii) improper maintenance of the software by customer or third parties.
